Business Plan

Your First Five Years

A working template for your six-section business plan. Print it, fill it by hand, or copy each section onto a slide in your deck. The point is not a tidy document — it is a plan you can actually steer your week by.

Name: _____

Direct leader / mentor: _____

Date prepared: _____

Pair this with the Goals & Pledge Worksheet and the two tutorial videos on the assignment page.

1 Personal & financial goals

Start with the life you want, then work the numbers backwards. Use the Goals & Pledge Worksheet for the full reverse-engineering — carry the headline figures here.

WHAT I'M AIMING AT	IN 5 YEARS
Income I want per month
Assets / savings I want accumulated
FYC per year that gets me there
Club tier / award
Clients & cases per year

What hitting this changes for me and my family

Professional development I want (1–3 years)

2 My strengths & areas to grow

Three of each. Write the honest version — the gaps are the part worth coaching.

STRENGTH	HOW IT HELPS ME ADVISE WELL
WEAKNESS	HOW I'LL WORK ON IT

3 Lead generation — target markets & prospecting

Three markets you can operate in efficiently. Give the real reason each one fits (existing trust, a network you belong to) — not "everyone needs insurance". Tie each back to your Project 200 list.

TARGET MARKET	WHY IT FITS ME (DEMOGRAPHICS, TRUST, NETWORK)	HOW I'LL PROSPECT IT	MONTHLY FYC

For each prospecting method — advantages & disadvantages

4 My weekly timetable

Block a typical week across prospecting, preparation, me time, learning, and study. Build it in your calendar, colour-code it, and drop a screenshot onto your slide. Count your prospecting slots — section 1 tells you how many you need.

	MON	TUE	WED	THU	FRI	SAT	SUN

Legend: Prospecting · Preparation · Me time · Learning · Study

5 My calling system

Write the script the way you'd say it out loud. Read it back — if it sounds like a brochure, rewrite it until it sounds like you.

How I introduce myself & my new career

My purpose for the call (market survey / setting an appointment)

How I close — and keep the door open if they say no

How I'll track every prospect & follow up

6 Sales competency — my first three prospects

Real people you could call this week. To be sales certified: your mentor observes your first three appointments, and you need three separate lives (not yourself or your spouse) taking up a HealthShield, life, or investment policy.

NAME	OCCUPATION	HOW I KNOW THEM	WHAT I THINK THEY NEED + THE PLAN

Before you submit: nobody runs the plan they first write down. The value is in building it — seeing how much the goal asks of your week, and where the plan is still thin. You're pre-licence, so you can't sell any of this yet, but the plan is what you'll run from the day you can.
